"I just listened to Deneen's talk. Oh, my goodness it was unbelievable. And you know what stuck with me? It was her story about her mother and how she turned her perspective of her building burning into a positive situation while the house was still burning! I was laughing but at the same time, that's what I love, is the use of stories that bring your message home because it then creates relatability. That's what Deneen did. So, you need to book Deneen so that you can get that same powerfulness into your event-Book her!"
